We would appreciate having a statement about your philosophy and work as an artist—either general or something specific about the piece(s) selected for this year's May Show to aid us in the preparation of gallery talks and in the release of publicity materials. For more space, use the back of this sheet.

My print in this years May Show a etching entitled "Dashboard clocks don't work anyways" depicts a post World War II British Bus terminal. It is viewed from the interior of a 1947 Bentley. This print was designed and is a composite of several dozen photographs I've taken myself over the past seven or eight years in a number of different locales.

The style of the Bus terminal is "Streamline Moderne" a movement in vogue from the mid-thirties until the outbreak of World War II and was popular in both the United States and Europe.

A number of Greyhound Bus terminals constructed during this period including the station on Cleveland's Chester Avenue are increasingly rare and classic examples of this movement
